

The public airwaves and the FCC must serve the public, rather than the interests of a handful of corporate "owners". I urge the FCC to reject any rule changes that lead to further media consolidation. On June 2nd, I urge you to retain the current ownership rules. The current behind closed doors "process" to change ownership rules is a shocking abuse of the public trust. This "process" coupled with the evidence of extravagant travel perks paid for by media giants shows how untrustworthy the FCC has become. I expect the FCC to protect the public!
